THE PROJECT

The main aim of the project was to increase the attractiveness and effectiveness of existing guidance services for gifted and talented students at primary school level.

-to analyze and compare the learning methods, materials of gifted and talented to call the attention of secondary and postsecondary faculties to the opportunities in vocational programs

-to assist guidance counselors to recognize opportunities for the gifted and talented in vocational programs,

-to encourage school administrators to make specific plans for recruiting and enrolling the gifted and talented in appropriate vocational programs,

-to develop a resource guide for guidance teachers to use in individualizing programs and courses to provide for the unique interests and abilities of gifted and talented students

-to provide pupils, teachers and trainers with multilingual web-based information platform on vocational guidance (types of professions and skills needed) and labour market tendencies (perspective occupations and skills needed) which would improve their knowledge and self-understanding of guidance needs in this age group.

-to train pupils in soft competences which would allow them to achieve better understanding of one's personal and professional profile to make justified career choice.

-to train teachers and trainers in interactive guidance methods and tools for the primary education level which would improve the quality and attractiveness of the services they render.
